When building your field trip please keep the following in mind:

- Meals on site are only minimally flexible, dinner can be no later than 6pm. Sack lunches can be provided for each day. If you choose to eat breakfast or dinner of site that will be an additional expense for your group.
- Be mindful of travel times. If for example you want to include Gettysburg, PA that might need to be during a day separate to visiting the DC area.
- Proximity of each location is important, if walking from one to another think about how long that walk might take.
- Some locations require reservations and tickets, it may be wise to look for availability before adding something to the schedule.
- The structure above can be changed to suit your needs. You do not need to work with the above timings other than potentially meal times.
- Breakfast can be continental style, and be available earlier, if you choose to leave site earlier.
- You can put the breaks wherever you like, or remove them entirely.
- The amount of time spent doing each thing is entirely up to you.
